In a few days, I will close another chapter in my life—High School 101. It seems like only yesterday, when I showed up for my first soccer practice and then, full speed ahead, I'm about to put on my mortar board and move on to the next chapter in my life!! With many exciting events that hold place markers in my heart, I have attended numerous club meetings, organized homecomings, and even achieved a second place in the state for weightlifting! I have represented the Fighting Beavers on the track field, the soccer field, as a class officer, and through various academic activities. I am proud to be member of the Summi Decem and National Honor Society at my high school. I am even prouder to have received the Eagle of the Cross award from the Diocese of Youngstown! Through the years I have challenged myself academically by taking Kent State University classes and attending countless Catholic Youth Conventions. One of my favorite high school memories is the time that I have spent volunteering. From going to the hospital early in the morning to spending late nights at the elementary schools tutoring, it has been worth all of my time and effort. I have found volunteering to be a very rewarding service to mankind!

Lastly, I would like to thank all of my teachers, mentors, and friends for without them I would not have made it. They hold a special place in my heart! Most people say that the best years of your life are in high school. So true, I have an abundance of wonderful memories, however, I believe that some of the best years are in high school but I know there are many yet to come! Welcome chapter 102!
